1st Annual Employees' Spring Meeting

Mayor Beets awaits his turn to give the employees the "State of the City" information at the beginning of their first meeting together. Thirty-five employees attended and their initial responses are very positive. Many remarked this is the first time they have felt included in the city process and they appreciated the opportunity to hear information first hand and the chance to voice their opinions.

From the City Manager. . .

City Manager David Bolling held a "Spring Employee's Meeting" on May 30th at the Kingston City Hall. In an unprecedented decision, and with the blessing of the Mayor and Council Members, City Hall was closed for 3 hours in order to allow them hear and be given the opportunity to voice their opinions and concerns regarding issues concerning the city and their work environment. This could become a practice in the city during the Spring and Fall and hopefully become a "brain-storming" session producing better ways of accomplishing their daily tasks and in serving the citizens of Kingston.

Mayor Beets discussed the "State of the City"

Guest Speaker Judy Housley of the TML Pool discussed safety and the changes coming in July with Workers' Comp.
