Department News

Public Works Director Tim Clark and his crew are still working with Johnny Goodman to install waterlines in the Kingston Heights area. The weather has greatly impacted this project. With better weather they could have finished it up by now.

Fire Chief Willie Gordon can be seen most days at the new pavilion site. They have been pouring concrete. On Friday, February 26 they will be joined by prisoners who will help construct the new pavilion and possibly help with Porter Park as well.

Carolyn Brewer is working with the different departments regarding their budgets for fiscal year 2011. The plan is to take budget requests to the City Council in April.

Water Department employees have had a little reprieve from waterline breaks since the weather has moderated somewhat. They are currently trying to catch up on work put aside while dealing with icy weather breaks.

Library Director Steve Jacks reports one of our favorite visitors, Dr. Bill Bass, will give a free lecture at Roane State at 7 p.m. on March 4th at Roane State Community College in Harriman.

Police Department Chief Jim Washam reports they are testing two of the new radios and should receive the rest the 1st or 2nd week of March. They are busy with a local murder investigation and a Morrison Hill robbery.

The Parks and Recreation Department Director Rick Ross announced plans are well underway for the Bass Federation, Inc.'s 2010 National Championship to be held on April 22-24 in Kingston. The official practice date is April 21. Each state and college division will have a boater and co-angler. On the first two days weigh-ins will be lakeside in Kingston with the final weigh-in at the Knoxville Convention Center.

How Do You Make a Big Guy Cry? Ask Troy!

On February 18th, three of our fairly new Reserve Officers with the Kingston Police Department went through the "Freeze +P" training

Work Begins on the Sewer Plant Expansion

Engineer Rick Kirby, Mayor Troy Beets and Mike Jolly

The city of Kingston has entered into a contract with Jordan, Jones & Goulding, Inc., to provide engineering services for expansion of the municipal wastewater treatment plant on James Ferry Road. The project is estimated to cost around $5,000,000 when completed in 2012, and will accommodate growth in the city as well as commercial development along the Gallaher Road Corridor. Funding is being provided by the Tennessee Valley Authority through the Roane County Economic Development Foundation. Plant capacity will be increased by one million gallons per day.
